

Necessary percepts for decision making

As a housing corporation we would like to percept the following things:

1. The locations of the ground available for buying
2. The price of the ground available for buying
3. The ground that our party owns
4. The cost of constructing a building
5. The money you get from selling a building or ground (the value)
6. The current score on all of our metrics
7. The effect an action has on our score

Also, we will want to have more information that can contribute to determining the attractiveness of the ground that our agent might want to buy but for this we need to do some more research first. For example important nearby buildings or the acreage of green in a certain radius.
